OUR STORY

Hemploom India was born from a deep-rooted desire to create a positive impact on both the planet and the people. Our journey began with a simple yet powerful idea — to revive the use of hemp, one of the most sustainable and versatile natural fibers, and bring it to the forefront of modern fashion and living.

ABOUT US

Founded in 2020, our story began with research into water conservation during a government project. It was here that we discovered the potential of hemp as a low-water-consuming, eco-friendly alternative to traditional textiles. This revelation became the foundation for what Hemploom India stands for today - sustainability, craftsmanship, and purpose-driven design.

What started as a small-scale initiative with a handful of artisan partners has now grown into a trusted name in the hemp textile industry, offering over 200 fabric varieties and end-to-end white-label solutions for clients across the globe.

With every fabric, every product, and every partnership, we remain committed to fair trade practices, artisan empowerment, and creating products that don't just look good but do good.

APPARELS

We offer a wide range of sustainable garments crafted from hemp and natural fiber blends. Our fabrics come in various GSMs (90–300+) and weaves like plain, twill, slub, and herringbone — ideal for shirts, dresses, trousers, jackets, and more. With options for custom dyeing, printing, and white-label manufacturing, we support brands in creating stylish, eco-conscious apparel from concept to completion.

Elevate living spaces with our ethically crafted home textiles, woven from premium hemp and natural fibers for timeless, sustainable comfort.
